In November we face a stark choice in the future of America. In one choice there is a Democrat nominee for president, Joe Biden, who has embraced the most extreme leftist policies of any presidential nominee. Included in these policies are plans to disarm Americans. At the same time these policies include defunding the nation's police departments. All this is occurring during a time of rioting and rampant crime sweeping across our cities, which is not denounced by the Democrat nominee of any in his party. So at a time of national violence, the Democrat plan is to defund police departments AND disarm the citizenry.

The other choice is the current President, Donald Trump, who speaks out against the rioting and violence every day. He has offered federal police and troops to quell the violence but has been opposed by Democrat governors and mayors. Donald Trump is against the "defund the police" efforts and is a strong supporter of our Second Amendment rights.

Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden on Sunday (9-13-2020) called for gun control less than 24 hours after two Los Angeles County sheriff's deputies who were critically wounded in Compton after a gunman opened fire on their squad car in an ambush.

"Weapons of war have no place in our communities. We need to ban assault weapons and high-capacity magazines," the former Vice President tweeted. This is not the first time Joe Biden has called for banning so-call assault weapons and high capacity magazines. He was asked in a TV interview if his administration would ban AR 15's and he replied "Bingo." Right after Mr. Biden got the Democrat nomination he was at a rally in Texas and was endorsed by rabid anti-gun rights Robert "Beto" O'Rourke and Biden yelled "I'm going to appoint you to lead our efforts to get rid of guns. I'm counting on you."

Joe Biden's running mate is California Senator Kamala Harris, who is also out to eliminate our Second Amendment rights. When she herself was running for the presidential nomination she said "I will give the Congress 100 days to pass meaningful gun control legislation, if they don't I will sign executive orders to mandate gun control."

Joe Biden has named some of the people he would put on his cabinet. Every one of them is an ardent gun control advocate. It is clear that a Joe Biden administration would be the most anti-Second Amendment administration in our nation's history. Add to that, Biden would be able to nominate the most liberal lawyers he could find to our courts and to the Supreme Court.

Below is an article that clearly makes the case for our decision on November 3rd.

MOBOCRACY VERSUS REPUBLICAN DEMOCRACY

Marcus Antonius spoke, thus, "And Caesar's spirit, raging for revenge, With Hate by his side come hot from hell, Shall in these confines with a monarch's voice Cry, "Havoc!" and let slip the dogs of war, That this foul deed shall smell above the earth With Carrion men, groaning for burial. - Citation from Shakespeare's historical play, Julius Caesar, Act 3, Scene 1.

War is upon us. Make no mistake about it. Be prepared to arm up. The survival of our Republic is at stake!

The sad thing is very few people will acknowledge this, even as some do embrace it, want it, even demand it. Many deny it, scoff at the idea of it, but most everyone, at some level, feels it.

All that we Americans have seen and heard in the last few months compels our acceptance of it, the hard, cold realization of it; and what it means for us.

But is this a modern American "civil war"—a race war—a clash between purported do-gooders demanding an accounting for people of color and privileged white oppressors, as the hordes of mindless Radicals endlessly shout and as a seditious Press echoes?

No! this is not a "race war" and never was, and calling it so, doesn't make it so.

This is mere artifice, a stratagem concocted by the Nation's Destructor Antagonists—the discontented Marxists, Socialists, Communists, Anarchists, Neoliberal Billionaire Globalists who have lost patience with the American electorate—an electorate that threw a wrench in their plans for world domination; an electorate that audaciously voted into Office an outsider, a businessman, who sought merely to return the Country to its rightful heirs: the American citizenry.

The Antagonist Destructors of our Nation see this and won't allow it; won't permit President Trump to serve a second term in Office. They plan to defeat Trump in the coming election by chicanery and unlawful acts if they can; by brute force if they cannot. They haven't disguised their intentions. They really cannot. This is their last chance and they know it.

They have brainwashed many; hoodwinked many others. The Nation is in their grasp: November 3, 2020 is the date set for the Governmental coup d'état.

These ruthless forces both here and abroad have embraced a strategy to destroy the U.S. Constitution itself, the very fabric of our Nation. Once accomplished they will go to work immediately to disassemble a free Constitutional Republic.

They will do so by executive fiat. They will rewrite our Constitution; eradicate our God-given sacred rights and liberties; open our borders to tens of millions of the world's dregs; bankrupt our Nation; subject our citizenry to conformity in thought and uniformity in behavior; reduce the populace to dependency on Government largess for its existence. They will erase our Nation's history, heritage, culture, and Judeo-Christian Ethic: all of it must go. Our Nation, in the form the founders bequeathed to us, will effectively cease to exist.

And these Antagonists, these would-be Destructors, will proceed forthwith, with blinding speed once they have taken over the reins of Government. They have legions of stooges and toadies to assist them—those who have assisted them since Day One of the Trump Presidency.

A ONE-DAY CIVIL WAR- (COUNTER-REVOLUTION): NOVEMBER 3, 2020

The nature of the present major conflict facing Americans has aspects of both a civil war and revolution, creating a unique hybrid.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN A CIVIL WAR AND A REVOLUTION?

There is a distinction to be drawn between the expression, 'civil war,' and the expression, 'revolution.'

"The word revolution is derived from the Latin 'revolutio', meaning 'a turn-around'. Revolution results in a mutational change in organizational structure quite amazingly in a short period of time. Revolution brings about a change in the power too.

Revolutions took place through history. It is interesting to note that apart from the change in power, revolution brings about change in cultural and economical situations as well of a country or a region. Socio-political scenario gets completely changed by a revolution.

It is interesting to note that the term revolution is used to indicate changes that take place outside the political arena. Culture, philosophy, society and technology have undergone marked transformations by these revolutions.

A civil war is defined as a war that takes place between two organized groups within the same nation state. In short it can be described as a war between factions in the same country. One of the best examples of a civil war is the American Civil War (1861-1865). It is otherwise called the War Between the States that took place as a civil war in the United States of America.

It is important to know that the two organized groups that take part in the civil war are normally bent upon creating their own governments and having organized military.

The most important difference between a revolution and a civil war is that civilians directly revolt against the government in a revolution whereas factions wage a war against each other in a civil war."

The American Revolution established freedom from tyranny and the creation of a new Nation-State.

The founders of this Nation-State, the framers of the U.S. Constitution determined that the Nation would exist as a free Constitutional Republic. Theirs was no easy task. But they accomplished it. The founders of the new Nation designed a central, "Federal" Government of three co-equal Branches; each Branch keeping the other in check through carefully delineated, demarcated, limited powers.

The people would retain sovereignty over Government, not by dint of faith that the servants of the people would not usurp power, but through the realization that these servants of the people would, as is human nature, attempt to do so. To prevent that from happening the founders incorporated into the U.S. Constitution, a Bill of Rights—a codification of fundamental, God-given, natural, unalienable, immutable, illimitable rights, including, first and foremost, the right of the people to speak their own mind and the right of the people to keep and bear arms. Thus, would unlawful usurpation of power by the servant of the people be kept in check.

Our Nation is founded on the tenets of Individualism: a recognition of the sanctity and inviolability of the individual and the import of the integrity of Self.

Even during the horror of the American Civil War, neither side, not the Union nor Confederacy, questioned the tenets of Individualism; never questioned the veracity and venerableness of the Bill of Rights. It was never in doubt.

But, today, though, there are forces that do not accept the tenets of Individualism and forsake the primacy of the Bill of Rights. These are the proponents of the tenets of Collectivism; those who will not suffer individual expression nor abide a sovereign, well-armed citizenry. They believe in uniformity of thought, conformity in behavior. Their model of societal perfection is that of the beehive or the ant colony; order maintained through the destruction of the human spirit.

The Arbalest Quarrel has written extensively about the differences between Individualism and Collectivism. See, e.g., our article, posted October 6, 2018, titled, "A Modern American Civil War: A Clash of Ideologies."

Today, forces both inside the Nation and outside it, utilizing the vehicle of the Democratic Party, along with the acquiescence of many within the Republican Party, have engineered a counter-revolution.

They envision a greatly expanded and expansive Federal Government with vast, virtually unlimited powers. To keep Americans in check they have been outspoken in their call for substantial constraints on free speech and the elimination of the right of the people to keep and bear arms. These counter revolutionaries intend to use our Constitution against us. Once in power the Constitution will be erased.

Although not carefully distinguished between two military camps—the Blue and the Gray—of the American Civil War, the clash of ideas is very much a bright line: Individualists versus Collectivists, and a mighty physical confrontation may yet emerge.

The Collectivists have, to date, failed to unseat the Individualists' candidate, Donald Trump. Americans elected Donald Trump to preserve a free Constitutional Republic, thereby securing the Nation the founders bequeathed to us through the difficult war they fought and won: the American Revolution. And President Donald Trump has done a commendable job, despite unimaginable obstacles to preserve the Nation in the form the founders gave to us.

The Collectivists have one last card to play: one which they had hoped to avoid: the U.S. Presidential election of 2020. The outcome may be the endgame for one side or the other. Or it may very well be the opening salvo of a Modern American Civil War qua Counter-Revolution to undercut the American Revolution.
