RANGE ABUSE

Once again its time to address a common issue we are seeing at ORSA. Range Abuse..... Someone took it upon themselves to create "targets" for their shotgun activities, by removing a section of the concrete wall at the rifle practice range (steel plate range) and placed those blocks on the ground to shoot at. Either before or after they finished with the blocks, they chose to use a trash can and folding chair for their targets. The first question that comes to mind is why someone would willfully destroy property they are helping to pay for? Your yearly fees are used for maintenance, upkeep, and upgrades to the ranges. Due to this continued abuse of the property we will now be spending more of your money to install cameras to attempt to identify people abusing the property. When you are caught, you will not only have your membership permanently removed, but you will likely face criminal charges for destruction of property. To the members who continue to commit these acts of destruction, your time is running out as you will eventually be seen either in person or on camera.

NEWS FROM SKEET, TRAP & SPORTING CLAYS

Hope you had a good Thanksgiving and are looking forward to Christmas. It'll be here before you know it.

I had an unusual request from a trap shooter. It seems that on September 12th, he and another trap shooter inadvertently swapped shotguns. Both guns are Browning BT 99s. Tom Wright is the shooter that has noticed he has the wrong gun. Tom is sometimes called Abe Lincoln as impersonating the former president is a hobby of his. If you know someone who shoots trap on Tuesdays occasionally, ask them if they have the right shotgun. Tom's phone number is 865-621-2093.

The Fall Fun Sheet League finished with 54 shooters completing all eight weeks and almost half of them winning some prize money. The Polar Bear Fun Sheet League starts January 4th. If you don't mind the cold you can shoot under the lights. If you have not ever shot targets under the lights, it is a unique experience.

A reminder to new members who are wanting to shoot Skeet, Trap & Sporting Clays. You must go through each discipline's orientation to be able to purchase Promatic card for Skeet & Trap and a Dongle for Sporting Clays. The orientations will be available Saturday mornings at 10am at the Club House and Sporting Clays office.

We are having a member only Sporting Clays shoot December 9th. It starts at 11am with registration and lunch with shooting to follow. Cash prizes will be awarded using the Lewis scoring method. Everyone has a chance to win a prize. This is a situation where it is better to be lucky than good.

November 12th, we held our annual STSC Election Meeting. The officers for 2024 are:

President: Larry McNamee

Trap Vice President: Don Conover

Skeet Vice President: Kenny Andrews

Sporting Clays Vice President: Cletus Mitchell

Sporting Clays Assistant Vice President: Dan Weaver

Secretary Treasurer: Greg Kraft

Don was elected Executive Vice President.

Many thanks to these people for the countless hours of work they contribute to make our club the nice place it is.

A good New Year's resolution, in case you don't have one already, would be to start volunteering at whatever part of the club you are interested in participating in. We have lots of things that must be done. I'm sure we can find something you would enjoy doing. This is also a great opportunity to make new friends with the nicest people you will ever meet anywhere.

Membership News December 2023

I wanted to cover membership renewals. When it's time for your renewal you will get a renewal notice mailed to you by the end of the month prior to your membership expiration. You're welcome to renew your membership at any time if you'd like to renew early - or even if you are running late. When renewing without the form please be sure to include your name, address & badge number. I process over 3,000 renewals each year in addition to the average 500 new member applications - I do not remember everyone.

For example I am currently holding 2 renewal checks that I have no idea who to credit the dues to - as the names on the checks do not match any current or former name in our system & the check was the only thing in the envelope. So please help me help you - at least include a handwritten note - with a badge number included.

ORSA Highpower Completes Spring Rifle Clinics

ORSA Highpower shooters completed two clinics late Summer and Fall for over 20 shooters. Shooters were able to learn more about Civilian Marksmanship Program (CMP) and ORSA's Highpower competitions as well as gain fundamental marksmanship instruction. This year we continued the introduction of Rimfire Sporter Match at the indoor range as a first step in the process and introduced shooters to the fundamentals and use of a military style sling for support. As a result, Rimfire Sporter Matches are being added to the Schedule. Rimfire Sporter matches are designed to require minimal specialized gear and focus on fundamental rifle marksmanship. Virtually every type of rimfire is permitted under some classification. For more information, just google "CMP Rimfire Sporter" for a brief introduction and a link to the pdf guide that explains items in more detail.

Upon completion of the basic rimfire sporter clinic, some shooters attended the highpower service rifle clinic held in September, which prepared them to shoot highpower matches for the rest of the shooting season.

The next rimfire sporter clinic is tentatively scheduled for March 2024. Shooters completing the rimfire clinic will be able to attend the highpower clinic tentatively scheduled for April of 2024. More information can be found in the upcoming Rangefinder as well as the website: orsarnadp.com/hp-events

HP Clinic: Firing and Coaching at the High Power Clinic.

Indoor Clinic: Coaching during the Standing String of the Match.

I want to start off by discussing two items that are really connected. The first is the open border and the second is the Hamas attack on Israel on 10 October. Somewhere around 10 million – ten million! – people have crossed the southern border since Biden took office. These people are just waived through and transported to wherever they want to go in America. They are really just waived through with absolutely no check into their backgrounds. These people are from all over the world. I've watched hours of video of these hordes of people and I'm struck by the number of military aged males who are "invading" our country. I've seen some of these males even in camouflage uniforms. There are even huge numbers of young men from China. I heard a Border Patrol agent interviewed, and he stated that they were told to categorize those that self-identified as Palestinians be recorded as "other." The government has denied this, but I think they were caught and lied. Nonetheless do you think members of Hamas or Hezbollah have infiltrated America? I do.

Additionally we know that Fentanyl has been smuggled into America in huge amounts. Over 100,000 American have died from Fentanyl poisoning. If smuggling Fentanyl into America is so easy, do you think there are weapons and explosives have also been smuggled into America?

America is de-facto being invaded by individuals and groups that wish to do us harm. And they are being armed with the equipment necessary to carry out that harm. Where are these people? The Dept. of Homeland Security admits that they don't know. They are among us.

Now to the events in Israel. The acts committed on 10 October were pre-civilizational. These acts are a stain on human-kind. Part of the "success" of these acts was due to the Israelis being unable to defend themselves, their families, and their communities. Israeli citizens don't have American Second Amendment-type rights. They were defenseless against these animalistic attacks. The Government of Israel has realized that their citizens need to defend themselves and have taken action to issue weapons to those citizens who want them. Too late for over 1000 dead, including Americans.

Thank God and the Founding Fathers for the Second Amendment. America is being allowed to be invaded because of policies of the U.S. Government. Over 10 million people are already here among us in America. If even ten percent of them are, in fact, enemies of America, then that is 100,000 potential combatants already in our communities. Assuming they are armed, is just a prudent assumption.

Each of us needs to be prepared to defend ourselves, our families, and our communities. As a t-shirt I wear says "The Second Amendment is my gun permit." Believe it. Live it. Stand ready.

"First we overlooked evil, Then we permitted evil. Then we legalized evil. Then we promoted evil. Then we celebrated evil. Then we persecuted those who still call it evil."

America's relationship with guns certainly has changed dramatically over the past three years as well. So much so that Americans have lawfully purchased more than 1 million firearms every month for 50 straight months. This historic stretch includes a large percentage of women gun buyers, minority gun buyers and first-time gun buyers, making the gun owning community the most diverse ever.

We now soon will be full bore into the 2024 election season. The Biden Campaign has announced that gun control will be a central theme of their campaign. So what would happen if Biden, or some other candidate from the Democrat Party, was elected into the White House and the Democrats retain control of both houses of Congress?

- A total ban on so-called "assault weapons"
- National gun registration where every gun and gun owner is in a federal database
- The U.S. would ratify the UN Small Arms Treaty which includes an international database of "end users" of firearms
- Repeal of the Supreme Court's Bruen decision
- An all-out attack on gun owners by the ATF
- Repeal of the law that protect gun manufacturers from frivolous lawsuits

So what are we to do? We need to elect a President and legislators to the Senate and Congress and the state legislature that are rock solid supporters of individual liberty and freedom, the U.S. Constitution, and especially the Second Amendment. Remember the Founding Father's gave us the Second Amendment so that "The People" can protect the other amendments.

The Constitution was created to PROTECT "We the People" FROM the government.

Biden Administration Opens a New Front in its War on Guns and the Companies That Make Them

October 31, 2023

President Joe Biden is stepping up his effort to cripple the firearm industry, the one industry that provides the means for law-abiding citizens to exercise their Second Amendment rights.

President Biden's Commerce Department issued a new and unprecedented edict that bans the export of firearms, ammunition and certain accessories to most overseas markets. The Commerce Department's Bureau of Industry and Security posted a notice of a 90-day "pause" for the exports on a Friday afternoon – on the Frequently Asked Questions Section that's listed on the bottom of the BIS website.

The "Friday news dump" was apparently an attempt to slip the kneecapping of the industry under the radar. However, this appears to be a coordinated event and more evidence of gun control groups steering domestic and foreign policy for the Biden administration.

Earlier Attacks

President Biden's revulsion that Americans would actually choose to exercise their Second Amendment rights has long been clear. He labeled firearm manufacturers "the enemy" at the outset of his campaign for The White House. That was a purposeful choice of words. He didn't say the firearm industry "opposed" his policies, nor did he say it was an "adversary." He chose to call the firearm industry "the enemy," labeling it as an existential threat to the America he wanted to fashion during his administration.

Since he was inaugurated, Biden has taken every opportunity to wage a campaign against the firearm industry and gun owners in general. He nominated David Chipman, a gun control lobbyist, to lead the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF). The ATF, of course, is the federal agency that regulates the firearm industry. His nomination was akin to putting the fox in charge of the hen house. NSSF opposed and his nomination was withdrawn. Director Steve Dettelbach was later nominated and confirmed by the U.S. Senate.

There's also the ATF's "zero tolerance" policy that has seen federal firearms licenses (FFLs) revoked and businesses closed for minor clerical errors, even in cases that were addressed and closed. Some of those cases were reopened to revoke licenses and shut down businesses and livelihoods. As part of that pressure campaign, there's been a significant increase in the number of "voluntary" license surrenders by business owners who agreed to give up their licenses instead of fight the weight of the federal government over the onerous policy.

President Biden has used nearly every lever of government he can to erect roadblocks to law-abiding citizens to exercise their Second Amendment rights and hobble the firearm industry's ability to meet the demands of gun owners. He issued Final Rules through the Department of Justice (DOJ) and ATF to attempt an end-around Congress and redefine "frames or receivers" and ban stabilizing pistol braces.

The frame or receiver rule outlawed the sale of unfinished firearm parts kits and his stabilizing pistol brace rule redefined brace-equipped pistols as short-barreled rifles, requiring that they be registered as controlled items under the National Firearms Act, requiring tax stamps and submission of fingerprints, photos and redundant background checks.

Both Final Rules are being challenged in the courts as unconstitutional. That's because they are. The Final Rules create criminal law without the consent and will of Congress. It is important to remember that only Congress can write laws – especially those that involve criminal punishments. When an executive authority does that on its own, that's tantamount to tyranny.

President Biden also took aim at gun owners and hunters by kowtowing to anti-hunting and antigun special interests to ban the use of traditional lead ammunition on National Wildlife Refuges (NWRs). His administration hasn't done this just once — but twice (and just last week). These rules phase out the use of traditional lead ammunition and require more expensive and less available alternative ammunition. It was announced that it was to protect wildlife populations from the detrimental effects of the use of traditional ammunition.

President Biden promised his administration would “follow the science,” except it isn't. There is no peer-reviewed, site-specific evidence to support the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) claims. They published the rules claiming to protect human health, California condors and American bald eagles. But the sites where they are banning the ammunition don't hold condor populations.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's own research demonstrates there is no human risk from consuming game harvested using traditional ammunition. American bald eagles are thriving, in large part because of the contributions paid by firearm and ammunition manufacturers through Pittman-Robertson excise taxes. That's benefited wildlife conservation to the tune of over $25 billion since 1937, when adjusted for inflation.

The Latest Salvo

Now, the Biden administration has slipped in this “pause” on firearm exports. That's significant for several reasons.

First, President Biden campaigned on reversing the U.S. Munitions List to Commerce Control List (USML-CCL) export reforms that were begun under the Obama-Biden administration and completed by the Trump administration. Those reforms reduced regulatory costs and streamlined exports while strengthening end-to-end user checks to ensure firearm exports weren't being sent overseas to bad actors.

Opponents of these reforms include disgraced U.S. Sen. Bob Menendez (D-N.J.) who coveted his Senate oversight role to bless or block any firearm exports under the old rules.

It's now apparent why he so zealously wanted that oversight back. The longtime ally of President Biden was recently indicted on federal corruption and bribery charges that stem from him greasing the skids for small-arms shipments to companies in Egypt. FBI officials raided his home and found hundreds of thousands of dollars wadded up and stuffed in his jacket pockets, along with stacks of gold bars. The twice-indicted senator has also been charged with illegally acting as an agent for the Egyptian government.

The export “pause” is unprecedented and the timing is suspect. The Biden administration's new Office of Gun Violence Prevention, which is staffed by gun control lobbyists and activists, just concluded a roundtable meeting with Democratic lieutenant governors to explore new ways they could collaborate on more gun control.

It also took place in the wake of successive Bloomberg News features that called into question exports to foreign countries, falsely alleging that U.S. manufacturers are somehow complicit in stoking crime.

One was an attack on SIG SAUER over crime in Thailand and a later article focused on Central and South America. Another attacked the Commerce Department's role in assisting U.S. manufacturers at NSSF's annual SHOT Show. That's something the Commerce Department does for all industries.

Bloomberg News is owned, of course, by Michael Bloomberg. He's the billionaire former New York City mayor who flamed out on his own attempt to occupy the Oval Office. He also ran an undercover sting to uncover illegal gun trafficking in other states...without notifying the ATF or FBI. That put the lives of federal agents in jeopardy and was subsequently chastised by his own police chief and the U.S. Department of Justice.

Bloomberg is also the financier of Everytown for Gun Safety and their mouthpiece The Trace, the gun control group that now has office space in The White House, along with other gun control projects he's funding, such as Moms Demand Action, Students Demand Action and the Center for Gun Violence Solutions at Johns Hopkins University's Bloomberg School of Public Health. When you pay that much money to fund gun control, universities name an entire school after you.

During this so-called “pause” in exports, the Commerce Department will conduct a “policy review to determine if changes are warranted to advance U.S. national security and policy interests.” Of course, this raises concerns that under the guise of human rights, the Biden administration will actually attempt to undo the USML-CCL reforms, extend the “pause” indefinitely, impose unwarranted regulatory burdens to increase costs to exporters and close off overseas markets to American firearm manufacturers.

Purely Political

All firearm and ammunition exports, of course, are subject to Defense and State Department review, which can halt exports if there are concerns. Firearm and ammunition license applications undergo a 100 percent end-user check by the BIS Office of Export Enforcement. They do this regardless of how long a company has been doing business with a particular customer, regardless of how many times the buyer was subjected to an end-user check and regardless of whether BIS has no derogatory information on that customer, even if the end-user was recently approved.

At present, no other commodity is subject to this same 100 percent check requirement. The kicker is that The White House has complete authority to regulate the export of firearms. That's what explains this “pause” as being purely politically motivated.

In July, the Biden administration sought to create a new division within BIS called “Embargoes and Human Rights.” With the assistance of the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Commerce, Justice and Science, this creation of the division was blocked. It could be that the export “pause” is political payback.

There's no right to export and the decision to grant or deny a license is purely a function of the national security and foreign policy assessment of those in charge. The USML-CCL reforms give the administration complete and essential unfettered discretion. BIS invoked national security and foreign affairs as the reason for the pause.

Congressional reaction to this move comes through the power of the purse. Congress can – and must – act through appropriations to ensure that the Biden administration is held accountable for its attempt to kneecap the industry through this unprecedented halt in exports.

This is a naked attempt by the Biden administration to hobble the firearm industry, which President Biden made more than clear he despises. It's also a shameless favor to the gun control industry that have bought their way into The White House and are now using foreign policy to exert their influence over domestic policy.

The American firearm industry has been called the “arsenal of democracy” because a strong and robust small arms manufacturing base has armed and equipped our law enforcement at home and our military and allies abroad. President Biden's export “pause” is an attempt to weaken that capability and diminish the industry that provides the means for Americans to exercise their Second Amendment rights.
