NEWS FROM SKEET, TRAP & SPORTING CLAYS

Hope you survived the big snow without any accidents.

Saturday March 16th we are going to have our first ever shotgun related swap meet. Anything you have that is related to shooting shotguns you can sell or trade to fellow ORSA members. Table space will be on a first come basis. This event is for ORSA members only. There is no charge and empty chamber indicators, ECIs, will be provided free of charge. Setup starts at 9:30am and event runs from 10am to 3pm. Please ensure your guns are unloaded and actions open before bringing into the clubhouse.

The term Polar Bear has lived up to its name this year for winter session of the Fun Skeet League. We have had over 50 shooters brave the elements to participate. Good luck to all, you're tough.

We go back to summer hours and Big 50 next month at Trap. See calendar in Rangefinder for hours.

Tom Wright still has not got gotten his gun back. Someone accidentally swapped BT 99s with him a few months back and haven't noticed they have the wrong gun. This happened on a Tuesday at field 1. If you shoot a BT 99 please check to be sure you have the correct gun. If you find that you don't, please contact Tom at 865-621-2093

New member orientations for shotgun shooters are held at S&T and Sporting Clays on Saturdays at 10:00am. You must go through this orientation before you can purchase target card or dongle and targets.

Don't forget to volunteer. If you're able to drive out to the club and shoot a gun we have something you can do.

2024 Rimfire Sporter Matches

Six CMP Games Rimfire Sporter matches are scheduled for 2024. What is Rimfire Sporter? A founding concept was to make this a match everyone could shoot by letting them use rimfire plinking and hunting rifles that many already own. The idea is to bring out your .22 rifle, have some fun, and work on your marksmanship skills. Most types of smallbore rifles can be used, whether they are semi-automatics or manually operated, with separate classes for telescopic and open-sighted rifles. Rimfire Sporter rifles are .22LR caliber and limited to 7.5 pounds (including sights and a magazine) and must have triggers that lift at least 3.0 pounds and must be configured as standard sporter rifles. No specialized shooting jackets or other performance-enhancing equipment is allowed. A sling and heavy glove are allowed. The club has target rifles with slings you may borrow. Ammo is available at the matches.

The Rimfire Sporter course of fire was modeled after the high-power rifle National Match Course. Three positions, prone, sitting or kneeling, and standing are used. The course includes both slow-fire and rapid-fire stages for each position. Rimfire Sporter matches are shot outdoors at 50 and 25 yards, and indoors using 50-foot reduced targets. Both indoor and outdoor matches are planned, depending on time of year and range availability.

Match bulletins can be found at

Match schedule:

1. 28 January, Indoor Range
2. 25 February, indoors
3. 23 March, after Basic Rifle Clinic, indoors or outdoors at Competition Range

Archery News

It's Almost Time to Blow the Dust Off Your Bows and Get Ready For Summer!!

The time is almost here to start group shooting on Thursday nights. In order for this to happen work needs to be completed on the overall ranges. Our first work party will be held on April 13, 2024, at 8" AM. We will need to clean up shooting lanes of all brush, limbs, and other debris. If you don't have a chain saw, that is all right because we need brush pullers. There are more than enough tasks to be completed for all to help.

After cleaning the range, we will be setting out targets for weekly shoots. To maintain the course for everyone's use, WE NEED YOUR HELP! PLEASE don't be the guy or gal that sits at home and lets someone else do the job for them.

Before work starts, we will have a short meeting to hear your concerns and go over safety issues that have come up during the last year. We all want to have fun shooting and not be worried about someone else's failure to follow safety protocols.

Again, I ask for all people that use the range to be proactive in its upkeep. It takes quite a bit of work to keep the range in shape so we can all be proud of OUR ARCHERY RANGE!

protection. This is not the first class since the pandemic, but the covid virus is still with us, and the class will be limited in size. Registration will be required. To register for the course, or for more information, call Ed Johnson at 865-483-9573. Advanced shooters will continue to shoot during the basic course.

The Constitution of the United States is a unique document in world history. “We the people” created a government of the people and by the people. The Founding Fathers studied world history and knew about authoritarian government rule. They created a document where the government had enumerated powers, that is, the government could only do what was written in The Constitution.

To drive home the point that the government served the people, the Founding Fathers created the Bill of Rights to guarantee the God-given rights of the citizens. As governments have done throughout history, our government has grown in size and scope. For every power taken by the government, individual freedom and liberty has been usurped. The Biden Administration is dead set to take away the citizens right of defending their lives, family, and way of life. The Biden Administration is trying to nullify the Second Amendment – they are trying to disarm us. Instead of going after criminals why is it that every gun control proposal only affects the law abiding citizen?

What is the Biden Administration’s plan to disarm us?

- They want to ban semi-automatic weapons
- They want universal background checks which means a national gun registry
- They want fewer and fewer gun stores
- They want safe-storage laws where there would be government inspections of every gun owners home and every gun owner would be required to have insurance
- They want gun manufacturers to be liable for every gun-related crime committed
- They want government registration to buy ammo and to levy special taxes on ammo sales
- They want to stop our youth from learning about guns and gun safety
- They have created a cabinet-level “Ministry of Disarmament” with the sole purpose to find ways to virtually eliminate the Second Amendment

The president and every government official takes an oath “to protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.” Of course, by working to subvert the Second Amendment, it is a violation of that oath.

As I said before the rights we have guaranteed by the Constitution are ultimately defended by the “right to bear arms” of the American people. The government is not defending the American people; we have to be prepared to defend ourselves and our families.

America’s Armed Populace: Why Owning an AR-15 Rifle is a Moral Imperative

By Mike Nowland

The howler monkeys of the anti-self defense rights crowd constantly blast us with weepy, blood-spattered reminders of the costs of an armed society. Those same people, however, are remarkably well disciplined about never, ever mentioning the historical costs of disarmament.

Every major policy choice has both positive and negative effects, some planned or anticipated and some unintentional. The Founders’ decision to maintain an armed population is an example.

An honest reading of the Second Amendment and the contemporaneous writings of the people who formulated it make clear the Founders intended Americans to be an armed populace as a counter to the power of government. Most of the people who participated in those discussions were highly educated, including in political history. Most modern Americans, it’s safe to say, aren’t.

I own an AR-15, ammunition for it, and tools for its care and maintenance. I have owned a fighting rifle for decades and will until I’m no longer able to use one.

When that day comes, it will be passed to a descendant or young friend who understands why every capable American is morally obligated to own one.

The Founders understood fundamental truths of human nature. They knew most people are decent and want to be left alone. They knew a dangerous few people have always wanted and will always want to exploit other people. A smaller but much more dangerous proportion are willing to do absolutely anything in pursuit of such exploitation.

Dangerous criminals are only too happy to assault, rob, rape, and murder others. As tyrannical governments have demonstrated throughout history, killing millions of innocent people doesn’t bother them in the slightest. Genocide, democide, ethnic cleansing, slavery, colonial exploitation, terrorism, and wars of conquest have been the norm through human history.

The only thing that the dangerous — individuals, politicians, or governments — truly fear is violence that could affect them directly. The more common, rational exploiters can be deterred. They will proceed only if a sufficient imbalance of lethal force is in their favor.

When there’s a real risk that attempted genocide, democide, ethnic cleansing, exploitation or imposition of slavery will backfire, rationally self-interested tyrants are likely to revise their plans. Deterrence is the primary reason America’s Founders chose an armed populace as a key component of maintaining a free society.

Would Hamas have attacked southern Israel if the locals had been as well armed as typical American towns of similar size? When groups have comparable ability to apply lethal force and defend themselves, nonviolent means of conflict resolution become much more likely.

That kind of deterrence won't always work. Irrational, wildly narcissistic, and unrealistic tyrants will plow ahead regardless. Virtually nothing can be done to deter them. Effective armed resistance by an armed populace can be the only way to stop them. That's the second reason Americans are armed.

The AR-15 rifle disperses lethal capability just as swords, shields, bows, and spears did in the past. When a targeted population is armed well enough to defeat a dangerous attacker, aggression is far less likely. That's why deterrence of victimization, aggression, and oppression is a duty of every capable adult.

Every living thing has the natural right to defend itself as best it can. Denial of that right is grotesquely immoral. So why do so many oppose self-defense rights?

Elites have done all they can to disarm commoners since hunter gatherer clans first merged into tribes. The tribal chief and his brothers took the best food, shelter, and women for themselves, and killed or disarmed competitors and rivals in the tribe.

Rulers of cities from Tenochtitlan to Nineveh have lived in circumstances far better than those of their populations by monopolizing lethal force capability. Modern elites from New York to Beijing continually strive to do the same. Armed peasants are threats to their positions and power, especially when their exploitation becomes excessive.

Elites co-opt as many of the people they rule as they can by providing various benefits like government employment and wealth transfers, but the more common opponents of armed self-defense rights come in three flavors.

Some are genuinely persuaded that an armed population is less safe than one capable of resisting criminal exploitation and tyranny. Elite-owned media constantly report on criminal firearm misuse as shrilly as possible, and dishonestly include common suicides when discussing 'gun violence.' Very few of the persuaded have ever considered the past and present realities of subjugation, genocide, ethnic cleansing, and terrorism, or other aggressive attacks despite seeing them on the news every day...if they watch news at all.

Some oppose armed self defense solely because their political "team" — in America, the elite-dominated Democrat party — opposes it. People like to belong to groups and will adopt the policy positions of their party in order to be accepted, and to feel like they're somehow contributing by helping to achieve some collective good.

Many more are perpetually frightened, often of many aspects of real life. Civilian-owned firearms and people who might use them scare some people enough that they just want them to go away, in the way children try to wish away what frightens them.

Violent death is real. Democide killed more than a quarter billion people in the twentieth century alone per R.J. Rummel. While many if not most of America's 8,000 or so murders each year would probably happen without guns, the others are a significant cost of our armed population policy. Still, they're a tiny fraction of the number of annual civilian defensive gun uses, never mind government-committed murders.

Effective deterrence is impossible to quantify. Some people believe America is immune to the horrors other people suffer. Those things could never happen here...except for isolated instances like the systematic genocide of Native Americans, the enslavement of African Americans, the ethnic cleansing of Japanese Americans, criminalization of gay Americans and so on.

Given the impossibility of knowing how many aren't victimized because bad people are deterred, we can only make crude comparisons. How many Americans have killed each other since our establishment as a country? How many Europeans have been killed by other Europeans in the same period? How many Asians by other Asians? Over the long run, Americans kill each other at much lower rates than other societies. That's not because we're inherently better people, but because we can't.

Every political, religious, ethnic, or other subgroup of Americans is armed well enough to deter any other group from attempting to subjugate or kill them, force them out of the country, or put them in camps.

Armed populations are stable and more peaceful by comparison. America's thoroughly armed populace is our only real guarantee of relative peace and stability. If you don't like mass murder and don't want to be victimized by others who are willing to do so, ownership of an AR-15 and the means of armed self-defense is a moral imperative.
